Tritch Selects His Claim.

A dispatch from Valentine in yesterday's Bee says:

Marvin Tritch of Kirksville, Mo., who holds number one in the recent land lottery, put in two days inspecting the Ft. Niobrara land, and has selected section 34 in township 34, range 27, Cherry county, containing 640 acres. Mr. Tritch is a single man about 30 years of age, served as a conductor on the Wabash railroad for a number of years, has traveled extensively, is well versed in land values, and he says his claim is worth $15,000. He is engaged in the moving picture and vaudeville business in his home town.

Section 34 is located two miles east of Valentine on the Niobrara river, it has 80 acres of fine timber, oak, ash, pine, elm and cottonwood. It has nine living springs, 200 acres of good farm land, one mile of river front and all kinds of game and fishing.

The Yellowstone and Omaha automobile road runs directly north of this section, the state farm joins on the east, and it has rural mail delivery and telephone at the door.

After the singing of several good stirring hymns and the usual devotions, the following important business was transacted. The acceptance of the challenge from the Methodist Brotherhood to a joint debate and the appointment of a committee of arrangements; the unanimous decision to have another men's feed at the parish house Dec. 8th; and last the vote of every member to attend church in a body Sunday evening, Nov. 23d. At the conclusion of this part of the program the men filed from the Sebastian to the Hoga home where tables were set and where the men were soon doing justice to a delicious oyster stew followed by cake and coffee. It was throughout an inspiring and happy meeting. A hearty vote of thanks was extended the host and hostess for their generous hospitality.

Railroad Notes

Dick Wood, who drew a winning number in the land drawing, went to Keystone yesterday and will take a drive over the forest reserve. Whether he would file, he said, depended on what he thought of the land.

U. Irenago, the Jap who was shot Monday night by, supposedly, the negro "Silver" King, was taken to the Grand Island hospital Tuesday night. It was necessary for the surgeon to remove two inches of the jaw bone. The wounded man is reported to be in a critical condition.

The railroad committee of the Chamber of Commerce will ask General Manager Ware to stop over in North Platte while passing through and discuss with members of the organization the practicability of changing the time of the arrival and departure of the branch train. The present schedule makes the train of little benefit to North Platte.

Floyd Passmore, of this city, who has been out of service for a year on account of an injured leg, has been given the position of passenger director at the Grand Island depot. He expects to hold this position until he has sufficiently recovered to resume service as conductor on the west district.

Fireman Albert Allison, firing for Engineer Flint on engine 248, was seriously burned by escaping steam between Buda and Optic Tuesday evening when a fuse plug blew out of the crown sheet. He was taken to the Grand Island hospital for treatment. Brake-man Norlander, who was in the engine, had an arm burned and Engineer Flint was burned on the face.

Passenger Conductor M. J. Buzza, running between Omaha and North Platte, held ticket 4917 which drew the Ford car at the Pat Theatre. The drawing took place Saturday evening, and it was announced that the first ticket drawn from the 60,000 pile would be the winner. No. 4917 was the first drawn, and as Mr. Buzza was not present, and it was not known who held the ticket nine others were drawn. This course was pursued so that in case the ticket bearing the number first drawn was lost, the second ticket would win, and so down the line.

Millinery Below Cost.

Desirous of cleaning up fall stock before leaving for a vacation, will make very low prices.

Mrs. B. F. Sailor, The Leader.

Business College Practically Assured.

S. R. Randall, who has been in North Platte for several weeks with a view of opening a business college, has secured twenty students and has the promise of several more. It is necessary, however, to secure thirty before opening the college, as this is the minimum number of entrants necessary to make the school a success at the opening term. Mr. Randall feels quite sanguine that this number can be secured, and this week placed an order with Derryberry and Forbes for the furniture necessary to equip the school, thus demonstrating that he believes in "home patronage." In the event, however, that the thirty students are not secured, the furniture order will be cancelled.

Certainly North Platte needs this business college, not only for the commercial education of its young men and women, but because the location of the city is such that the school will in time become an institution that will bring to North Platte each year hundreds of young people who desire a business education. In connection with the college will be a night school, which will prove of much benefit to those who are unable to attend the day sessions. Everyone who feels interested in the advancement of young people and in the growth of North Platte's influence for good should give Mr. Randall his hearty support.

The Messages of the Merchants.

In this issue of The Tribune a half dozen North Platte merchants take liberal spaces in conveying messages to the purchasing public. This, really, makes this issue of the Tribune a valuable one to its readers, for it acquaints them with bargains that cannot fail to save them money. If these advertisements were not published few would know of the reduced prices the merchants are offering, hence the value of this issue to the buying public.
